

From the President's Desk

Wish you all a happy New Year!

Dear parents,

Hello. I wish you all a very happy new year. I am sure you will find 2008 exciting and full of adventure.

We closed 2007 with a very grand Christmas party which had our first ever raffle and very satisfied children and families. Thanks to our patrons, parents and the many helpers who donated valuable time, effort and money to make it happen.

Once again in December, Little Angels was profiled in Suku Suku Paradise and I hope you had a chance to read the same. We will upload a digitized copy soon for your reading pleasure. In fact there is a bigger media coverage which made news in the New York Times and I am quite excited about the way our school curriculum has helped improve our children's capabilities which has been appreciated by many journalists from overseas as well. Please refer to the article "NY Times" in the media section. The interesting article was carried by several other newspapers in India as well.

Flash News: CNN covered the Little Angels exclusively and it was broadcast world wide. I hope you all managed to see it on TV. You may view the video by simply clicking on the link in the Media Coverage section in this site.

I am also very pleased to inform that we have a picture of our New

Elementary School which is located in Kichijoji inside the School section. Our school name is displayed prominently so please check it out. Presently some of the interior changes and fixtures are in progress and I expect that almost everything should be in place by the end of January, 2008. I will keep sending updates and you may visit the school after completion of the work.

Thanks once more for your continued support for our efforts. My teachers and I will continue to provide the best educational environment for your dear children. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Best wishes and warm regards,

Rani

21st January, 2008.
